

COLLEGE OF CLINICIAN SCIENTISTS ACADEMY OF MEDICINE, SINGAPORE

The College of Clinician Scientists (CCS) comprises Fellows of the Academy who are nationally funded clinician scientists and was formally inaugurated in 2016. The College had its beginnings as a Chapter within the Academy of Medicine Singapore in 2012.

Fellows of the College are specialist clinicians who are also established scientists, accomplished in clinical and translational research including experience in collaborative research with the biomedical and pharmaceutical industry.

We provide a collective identity for clinician scientists nationally and function as the scientific voice of the Academy of Medicine, Singapore. In addition, the College is a highly valuable resource of scientific biomedical expertise for the nation and a font of mentorship for aspiring clinician scientists.
